WELCOME TO WOMEN IN SCIENCE....

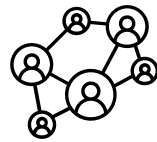

The continent's premier platform for women scientists, with a reputation for in-depth, thought-provoking, inspiring and pan-African content. Women in Science is published by: Media Torque & Events (PTY) Ltd

Engaging content

Through our pan-African focus, we reflect the diversity of women on the African continent, providing a platform for Africa's growing community of female scientists to network, find support and share their ideas and accomplishments.

We promote the advancement of women in science by lobbying policymakers and encouraging the career development and creating a platform for networking and mentoring amongst women scientists.

Engaged audience

Through our unwavering commitment to delivering quality content, Women In Science has built an enviable following of 60k engaged thinkers, scholars, researchers, senior government officials, business drivers and scientists.

Dynamic and diverse in backgrounds, our readers share a common goal - to be part of the advancement of STEM, empowerment of women, and the transformation of the STEM sector.

Engage with us

We offer exciting opportunities to partner in the areas of content, advertising and partnerships.

Partner with us to leverage our established and engaged audience of educated readers. In addition, you can reach those who are working toward building wealth, improving their wellbeing, and advancing women in STEM fields.
